

SOUTHEASTERN PLEIN AIR INVITATIONAL

Millie Gosch

Hometown:
Roswell, GA

Medium:
Oil

Participation: First Year

2011

A native of Newnan, Georgia, Millie Gosch finds the lowlands and rural fields in the area and the marshes and waters of coastal Georgia inspirations for her landscape paintings.

She pursued her passion in art studies at Salem College in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Later, she returned to her native Georgia and settled in the Atlanta area. After a successful career in the decorative arts, Ms. Gosch returned to her first love of fine arts.

She is active in bringing well-know plein air painters to the Southeast to teach workshops. Ms. Gosch has won several awards, most recently as a finalist in the prestigious RayMar Second Annual Fine Art Competition with her oil painting "Sunrise in Summer."

Ode to the Countryside

She is represented by the following Southeastern galleries:

Frameworks Gallery, Marietta, GA
Loretta Goodwin Gallery, Birmingham, AL
Two Sisters Gallery, Columbus, GA
Panoply, Newnan, GA.

"For me, art is an expression of my love of nature. The colors and energy of the outdoors create in me a need to capture those qualities in a permanent way. I especially love serene landscapes, and I try to simplify them to highlight that serenity. With my brushstrokes I hope to take the viewer to a special place: the quiet reflection of a special moment in time."
